Go Back to School and Get a Degree - in Spread Betting

May 4, 2011

New Design And User-Friendly Layout Launched at Spread-Betting.com

LONDON, ENGLAND, May 04, 2011 /24-7PressRelease/ -- In response to the recent demand for quality educational material, Spread-Betting.com is announcing the release of its brand new spread betting website which now features new reports and easier navigation. The trading guide offers in-depth information on financial spread trading and the workings of the financial markets.

"Our ultimate aim is to build a trading community for individuals to interact and learn from one another"

According to recent research by specialist company Investment Trends, the demand for online spread betting is growing at an exponential rate as more and more private investors are realizing the tremendous speculative opportunities afforded to them by spread betting. A number of people who were laid off or had their incomes reduced because of the economy are now taking their financial destinies into their own hands and looking to learn how to trade or invest in the financial markets.

Spread betting is an attractive form of financial trading because it offers the trader a tax-efficient way to make gains from the financial markets. Not only does spread betting allows private investors to bet on whether a market is going to go up or down in value, but they can also make sizable tax-free profits (sometimes even a lucrative living) while doing so. However, since the financial spread trader can lose more than their initial margin deposit, being educated in financial spread trading offers the trader an edge.

Our online training program is designed to equip traders with the right tools and information so that they can trade efficiently and safely, therefore giving traders confidence in their trading methods and the best chance of profitability.

And with the upgraded, user-friendly re-launch of Spread-Betting.com, UK day traders and stock market traders have an added bonus to visiting and using the site - a FREE trading guide. Other financial trading sites and tutors will might well charge investors hundreds of pounds for this information.

The guide includes amongst others the functionality to -:

- # Learn the Mechanics of Spreadbetting
- # Compare Spread Betting Companies
- # Browse our new Questions and Answers Feature
- # Comment and Discuss Industry Happenings
- # Watch the Training Educational Program in action in our Videos

Our spread betting course is a complete and comprehensive training programme which traders can take at their own pace. Investors will learn the fundamentals of spread trading, from real traders.

Of particular interest to day traders and financial spread investors is the section on the site outlining trading strategies. Delivered in plain English with a wickedly dry sense of humour Spread-Betting.com helps the financial spread trader to make a straight and honest assessment of themselves and whether spread trading is something they should get involved in.

Perhaps the best part of Spread-Betting.com is that it provides exceptionally detailed reviews of most of the spread betting providers in operation today. The site's trading experts have compiled in-depth information on each spread betting brokerage company including an overview of its trading platform, ancillary services, as well as a summary outlining what they did and did not like about the particular website or trading interface.

About spread betting: Financial spread trading is a leveraged way of gaining access to trade on the worldwide financial markets and offers certain benefits over traditional trading including: enjoying profits free from capital gains tax or stamp duty*, avoiding expensive broker's or accountant's fees and being able to profit from prices falling as well as rising ones.
